TOWN OF IROQUOIS FALLS

Leadership Roles at the Town of Iroquois Falls

The Town of Iroquois Falls is pleased to announce Brian Finner as the Chief Administrative Officer and Joel Cyr as the Deputy CAO/Director of Growth and Infrastructure.

In the role of Chief Administrative Officer, Brian will provide strategic leadership and direction as well as administer and oversee municipal departments and operations. Finner brings several years of direct municipal senior management experience to the table, along with a deep understanding of management principles, strategic planning, facilitation, and executive leadership. His commitment to continuous learning and comprehensive knowledge of municipal operations makes him very well-suited to lead our organization into the future. Brian's exceptional communication skills and political acumen will enable him to foster partnerships, engage with stakeholders, and ensure the effective delivery of municipal services.

Joel Cyr brings over a decade of experience in municipal senior management to his new role as the Deputy CAO/Director of Growth and Infrastructure. With a background in engineering and a comprehensive understanding of municipal operations, Joel Cyr is poised to support strategic expansion, operational resilience, and effective capital project management within our community. His demonstrated leadership and organizational skills, coupled with extensive experience in large capital project management, make him an invaluable asset to our municipality. As Director of Growth and Infrastructure/Deputy CAO, Cyr will oversee IT services, ensure compliance with corporate policies, guide all capital projects, enhance community infrastructure, coordinate with key stakeholders and provide direction in the implementation of our Asset Management Plan

We are thrilled to welcome Brian Finner and Joel Cyr to their new roles within the Town of Iroquois Falls. Their proven track records of leadership and accomplishments, coupled with their dedication to serving our community, made them ideal candidates for these important positions. We could not be more encouraged and confident that under their guidance, our municipality will continue to thrive and prosper.

Both Brian Finner and Joel Cyr will play integral roles in shaping the future of Iroquois Falls, ensuring sustainable growth, effective municipal operations, and outstanding service delivery to our residents while working hard to support councils mission and vision.
